

County Fiscal Policies Earn Praise, Criticism

By MARION BARTOSIAK
Press-Record Staff Writer

Two women carried picket signs and several others distributed pamphlets to protest the cost of "unnecessary" and "unnecessary" committee meetings of the Madison County Board of Supervisors as board members approached the meetings. Wednesday evening.

The protesters, also critical of expenses paid to county officials and of investment methods, were located at one of the four entrances to the courthouse.

More were expected to be on hand as Mrs. Carol Frederick of East Alton, serving as spokesman and salaried volunteer, that the turnout of women would be county-wide.

The picket signs and pamphlets warned:

"Taxpayers! Be aware of how your county board of supervisors spends your tax money in unnecessary, unannounced, unfair committee meetings."

The pamphlets listed the total expense for per diem (now $25 per member per meeting) and travel expense for 49 members, totaling $1,000 for the year ending Nov. 30, at $26,801, with an additional $13,874 for out-of-county meetings.

"They overspent their own estimate for administrative expenses by $1,775," the pamphlet pointed out.

The women cited the new official county audit for 1970 which recommended that "controlling study" be given to the following areas:

Travel expense: Flat-rate travel allowances (examples, coroner, veterinarian, museum, medical home); mileage paid between home and office (example, board of review—Harold Landolt—board chairman is paid to go to work).

Police travel paid without detailed documentation; some out-of-town trip expense claims do not include the date or purpose of the trip or the itemized lodging receipt.

County Collector

County Collector quoting a paragraph of the new audit:

"Undistributed tax collection funds totaling $2,175,000 were deposited in non-interest bearing accounts for the examination which include the audit. Had these funds been invested in interest bearing accounts, approximately $40,000 to $50,000 could have been earned."

"What has (Treasurer George) Musso refused to do this?" the pamphlet continued.

It also cited Illinois statutes which require that "deposits of the county treasurer in any county exceed the amount of 10% of the capital stock and surplus of that bank unless securities are deposited with the treasurer for safekeeping."

Effort Here to Attract More Medical Doctors to Region

Within a span of 24 days—from May 19 to June 12—the Quad-City area lost two of its overworked physicians and surgeons. Those who died were Dr. Daniel G. Cariss, 59, who had practiced here 31 years, and Dr. Willis B. Bowers, 57, active here 33 years.

They have not yet been replaced, and the efforts of the other medical doctors who preceded them in death.

Many residents face the problem of where to turn to for medical examination and treatment, according to the doctor shortage committee.

The simplest answer would be to establish local offices, but there is a national shortage—complicated by the limited medical school capacity and the development of new specialties and techniques.

Inquiries by the Press-Record have disclosed that individual physicians are making contacts in an effort to attract more Quad-City doctors.

As the head of the medical staff at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Dr. Louis J. Lazzarini, 42, is monitoring with state members and hospital officials in the hope of possibly developing a plan of action to ease the doctor shortage in this region.

4 New Venice Police Ranks

An ordinance revamping the personnel structure of the police department and establishing four new positions within the department was adopted by the Venice City Council Tues-

In a separate resolution fixing salaries for city officials and employees, the council also specified salaries for the newly created posts.

The ordinance amending the city's compensation code pertaining to establishment of the police department and its personnel, provides that the personnel of the department shall consist of an assistant chief of police, one assistant investigator and chief juvenile officer, two assistant investigator and assistant juvenile officer, and 13 patrolmen.

Since the Venice police department in the past has operated with an assistant chief of police and a regular force of patrolmen, the amendment has the effect of creating the investigating juvenile post, the assistant chief of police and two sergeant ranks.

In recent years the Venice police department has not used a rank system. All officers below the rank of assistant chief were ranked as patrolmen.

Assistant Post Vacant

The post of assistant chief of police is now vacant due to the appointment of Dr. Louis Lazzarini, then assistant chief, to the post of chief of police to succeed former Chief of Police John Essington, who retired.

The assistant chief's and the newly created posts are expected to be filled by appointment soon. Officers named to the jobs will be appointed by Mayor John J. O'Neil, with appointment by the council.

The salary resolution adopted by the council Tuesday night in conjunction with passage of the 1971-72 appropriation ordinance fixes a salary of $10,200 per year, payable at $550 per month.

It also fixes a salary of $5,400 per year for the chief investigator and juvenile officer, a salary of $3,900 per year for the assistant investigator and juvenile officer, and a salary of $9,420 per year for each of the two sergeant posts.

Eliminate Projects

The city appropriation for this improvement would be financed at least in part by a grant from the Illinois State Enforcement Commission. The $400,000 budget which was not carried over into the new appropriation includes $100,000 for acquisition of land and construction of a recreation center, $100,000 for a new fire station and $100,000 for remodeling the city hall.

Salary raises account for the bulk of the increase in this year's budget.

Venice Budgets Funds To Remodel City Hall

A new Venice city appropriation of $642,955—an increase of $51,400 over that of last year—was adopted by the Venice City Council Tuesday night in conjunction with a resolution granting a series of salary raises for full-time city department heads and employees.

The council approved an overall budget of $1,322,955, which is $165,597 less than last year's $1,491,552 total.

The overall total, however, includes $420,000 budgeted for the city's share of construction of the new bridge over the Illinois River, a non-operative item that has been carried over in the budget from year to year since 1966.

The reduction in the total appropriation figure was effected by a reduction of $400,000 worth of proposed improvements listed in last year's budget.

State Grants Provide Work For Housing Project Youth

More than 2,000 young residents of Illinois public housing units will be supervised in their summer employment opportunities through Department of Local Government Affairs grants to 28 local housing authorities, according to Robert J. Lehnhausen, department director.

The grants, administered by the department's office of housing and buildings, total $103,061 and range from $30 to $23,000, including grants for supervising young people range from $2 to $3.57 an hour, depending on the nature of the supervisor and general work area.

The grants, earmarked specifically for supervisory personnel, supplement the summer program for youth in public housing authorized by the federal government.

"The federal program is funded from project rentals and does not provide for supervision," according to Lehnhausen.

"In each case, however, an essential element of the grant application will be the programmed plan to improve the skills and attitudes of our youth and provide economic assistance," Sternstein said.

Earlier this year President Nixon's Council on Youth Opportunities proposed a number of projects and a report from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare was released in Chicago. The "Summer Youth Opportunity Program" began to take shape.

HUD called upon the Department of Local Government Affairs to assist local authorities.

Wide Range of Jobs

A wide range of summer jobs—from recreational to the landscaping and improvement of the lands available to teens in the 15-17 age group.

In many instances individual projects have variations to better suit the abilities of the youth. One young lad in the group is working part time as an arts and crafts instructor for primary school children and spending the later part of his day running errands and assisting a group of senior citizens.

SIU-SW Students Still Face Higher Fall Tuition Rate

As it now stands, students attending Southern Illinois University's Southwestern campus will be charged increased tuition rates for the fall quarter, as approved by the SIU board of trustees in January. Dr. John S. Rendleman, chancellor, said yesterday, "Even though the legislature did not increase the tuition rates for state universities and colleges, the action of the SIU trustees has not been changed and will be in effect until further action by the legislature."

The new rates, effective in September 1971, are:

For Illinois students:
$48 for up to five credit hours; $85 for six to 10 credit hours; and $143 for 11 or more hours.

For out-of-state students, the new rates are:

$143 for up to five credit hours; $240 for six to 10 credit hours; and $429 for 11 or more hours.

Chancellor Rendleman pointed out that the trustee resolution approving the increase, as recommended by the Illinois Board of Higher Education, carried two amendments. The amendments called for additional scholarship money to be provided for the Illinois Scholarships Commission and requested for Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie to appoint a commission to study the increase in tuition and its effect on student enrollment.

Tribute to Tom Hooks Adopted at Venice

A certification of recognition and "message of encouragement" was adopted for Tom Hooks, 18, of Venice, a member of Explorer Post 104 who was critically injured and partially paralyzed in a diving accident at a Washington, D. C., hotel on April 4, was approved by the Venice City Council Tuesday night.

The certificate was signed by 16 city officials, including the council's eight aldermen and Mayor John J. Lewis.

A copy of the document will be sent to young Hooks who is in a hospital at Washington. The certificate reads:

"We, the undersigned city officials and officers of the City of Venice, Ill., have attached our signatures below as a message to Tommy Hooks to let him know that his achievements and contributions in Scouting, including the Eagle Scout award, have not gone unnoticed in his home town, and as a message of cheer and encouragement at a time when a guy likes to hear from home."

Police Car Hit

At 8:30 a.m. on Saturday, a Marion police car driven by Supt. William Fanning was struck from the rear at 7:35 a.m. Tuesday by a car driven by John P. Watson, 807 Washington Ave. The accident occurred at Franklin and was stopped for a stop sign in the 100 block of Madison Avenue, police reported.

a segment of work on how best to conduct such a summer youth employment program, the department asked local housing authorities who participated in the program to join the Department of Local Government summer program.

"HUD gave no project guidelines for participating localities," Sternstein explained, "and we were asked to coordinate local efforts to meet state and federal requirements for existing grants."

"Most summer employment jobs have had weak supervi-

Securing the needed supervision has been a special project of the Department of Local Government Affairs.

Normal salaries are raised shortly after the start of a new fiscal year in July. The last major pay raise was in 1969 with executives in numerous offices getting increases of up to 15% or 20%.

Last year, executives under the governor, as well as those in the offices of several other state agencies, were given the 6% cost-of-living boost the regular rank-and-file civil service personnel received.

In 1970, Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie has scheduled a 5% cost-of-living hike for civil service employees, effective in September. The increases, along with a lucrative fringe benefit package, will not cost the real hike to nearly 7%.

Aware that the public frowns on gigantic pay boosts for state executives, many officeholders give big raises in non-elective years and not in their biennial election years, keeping the taxpayers' memory is short.

In 1969, State School Supt. Bay Price gave himself a 10% raise, backed off last year, when he was a candidate.

Likewise, Ogilvie, though he had been in office only a few months, has awarded sizeable increases—but has held it to the regular 6%.

Other officeholders in both parties generally followed the governor's direction, though Lt. Gov. Paul Simon gave no raises in 1969 and only the 6% last year.

Although this is not an election year, the 1972 election is approaching and politicians are wary of an increasingly tax-conscious electorate.

Ogilvie's front-office executives and other higher-ups in the administration will get the same 6% boost and fringe benefit package as the rank-and-file will get—and no more—according to press aide Fred Bird.

Secretary of State John Lewis, like Ogilvie a possible candidate next year, for any raise may be more generous in the midterms of a presidential and gubernatorial election year.

But look out in 1972, for past practice shows that officeholders are most generous the first year after a presidential contest. Not only were increases bettered in 1969, but Gov. Otto Kerner was most generous to his employees in 1965.

No Big Pay Hikes for State Governmental Executives

In 1970, Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie has scheduled a 5% cost-of-living hike for civil service employees, effective in September. The increases, along with a lucrative fringe benefit package, will not cost the real hike to nearly 7%.

Aware that the public frowns on gigantic pay boosts for state executives, many officeholders give big raises in non-elective years and not in their biennial election years, keeping the taxpayers' memory is short.

In 1969, State School Supt. Bay Price gave himself a 10% raise, backed off last year, when he was a candidate.

Likewise, Ogilvie, though he had been in office only a few months, has awarded sizeable increases—but has held it to the regular 6%.

Other officeholders in both parties generally followed the governor's direction, though Lt. Gov. Paul Simon gave no raises in 1969 and only the 6% last year.

Although this is not an election year, the 1972 election is approaching and politicians are wary of an increasingly tax-conscious electorate.

Ogilvie's front-office executives and other higher-ups in the administration will get the same 6% boost and fringe benefit package as the rank-and-file will get—and no more—according to press aide Fred Bird.

Secretary of State John Lewis, like Ogilvie a possible candidate next year, for any raise may be more generous in the midterms of a presidential and gubernatorial election year.

But look out in 1972, for past practice shows that officeholders are most generous the first year after a presidential contest. Not only were increases bettered in 1969, but Gov. Otto Kerner was most generous to his employees in 1965.

Phone Service Uninterrupted in Area

Telephone service continued uninterrupted in the Quad-Cities today despite a nationwide walkout of AFL-CIO Communications Workers of America employees at 6 a.m. yesterday, but union representatives claim a prolonged strike will disrupt phone service.

Seven supervisory employees were handling operations at the western Bell Telephone office today after employees refused to cross a picket line. Four pickets were on duty at the office here yesterday as the strike became effective.

A spokesman at the Granite City office pointed out that the present strike of Communications Workers is against Western Electric Co. and not against the telephone company. The vital equipment is being maintained by Western Electric employees. Bell and the union remain in effect and negotiations between the company and union still are in progress.

Joe Smith, Granite City manager of Southwestern Bell, said: "We think we can continue to give customers good service and speed their calls. They will be able to call local and long distance calls, look up numbers in their directory rather than calling the directory, and make an early move or installation requests until the work stoppage is over."

"Callers who require the assistance of an operator may encounter some delays. Often a man may answer. He will do everything possible to complete the calls, though it may take a little longer than usual."

produce a reaction during the meeting, except that some points were covered in review and some were not.

Assistant State's Attorney Marshall Smith, the board's legal advisor, said that excessive funds were wrongly deposited with the two Edwarwds banks, a mistake which he will not repeat. He said he will confer with Musso on the question.

On the investment issue, the audit recommended that more funds be invested in interest where it is legal to do so, and Smith remarked that some questions of legality are now in the hands of the Illinois attorney general who will remain responsible for some time.

The auditors during the meeting expressed satisfaction with an increase in the amount of money appropriated to pension funds immediately by $1 million to about $7 million, with a resulting increase in earnings during the 1970 fiscal year.

The written audit for the year ended Nov. 30, 1970, formally presented at yesterday's session, cited a number of improvements with which the independent auditing firm concerned.

It also listed many recommendations, some urging still further utilization of idle funds, and also questioned why Madison County has continued to tax in certain funds which have large financial balances.

Some of the proposals made by the auditors would require state law changes and others could be implemented by the County Board of Supervisors.

GC Steel Shipments So Far This Year at Record Level

Granite City Steel Company had record shipments of $1,220,000 or 26 cents per share of common stock, for the three months ended June 30, compared with $950,000, or 21 cents per share, for the second quarter of 1970.

The figures were adjusted to reflect the acquisition of Central States Steel, Inc., on a partial pooling-of-interests basis, effective July 1. President P. W. Veeder, board chairman and chief executive officer of Granite City Steel, said after a meeting of the board of directors.

They said: "The planned effective date for the merger transaction, which is subject to the approval of Granite City Steel stockholders at 2 p.m. July 29, has been postponed until approximately 3 p.m. on the second quarter of 1970.

On a pro forma, fully diluted basis, net income for the second quarter of 1971 was 26 cents per share and for the first half of 1971 to 53 cents per share—compared with 20 and 48 cents for the same periods in 1970.

$114 Million Sales

Net sales were $69,000,000 for the second quarter of 1971 and $114,805,000 for the first half, compared with $48,463,000 for the second quarter last year and $88,820,000 for the first half.

"The company's shipments were at record levels in both the second quarter and first half this year," Veeder said.

"However, the impact on profits resulting from this period of sustained high demand, volume operations and sales of high value products was substantially diluted by increased costs in the cost of materials and services without compensation in price.

Veeder said.

"The steel industry cost-pricing relationship is seriously out of balance."

Production Down Slightly

Granite City Steel produced

In April 1970, he and a new group, the Buddies, recorded the album, "These Changes." Miles recorded it with Hendrix for the Band of Gypsys' album live at the Fillmore East, and later released albums from the East and West Coasts.

From Los Angeles came the main portion of a group, formerly known as the Age of Aquarius.

The six-week 1971 Festival season is sponsored by Mississippi River Festival, Inc., a not-for-profit Illinois corporation.

3 New Precincts Formed; Chouteau Twp. to Have 7

By GOVERNOR
RICHARD B. OGILVIE

The legislative session is over. The members of the General Assembly have returned home for a well-deserved rest.

Chain Reaction Crash Tuesday Injures Two

Two women were injured and a driver was ticketed in a three-car collision at 5:10 p.m. Tuesday at 20th Street and Edwarsville Road, police reported.

Divided were old Precincts 1, 2 and 4, with two located in the northern area and the other in South Reasons.

Walter Sparks, township supervisor, said that precincts 1 and 2 have about 1,000 registered voters and No. 4 has nearly 1,200 registered voters. The conveniences to vote, waiting in lines during peak periods of elections. The old rules called for not more than 800 to a precinct.

An objection was sounded that the county's new voting machines could accommodate 2,000 voters each and that previous limitations will be changed.

Sparks said that the projected use of voting machines and the difficulty in finding polling places in the township had prevented voters from seeking additional facilities in the past, but that the population in the township is growing.

Marshall Smith, the board's legal advisor, called for an appeal of the split as the next county meeting in June and July meetings of the board. Other changes could be made next year if deemed advisable.

The county last year obtained 400 voting machines and with a turnout of an average of 400 for each, the total vote in a county election would be 16,000, much higher than the number cast previously.

A new precinct was added to the county totaling the number for Foster Township from two to three.

One boy was apprehended in an alley at 18th Street and Edison Avenue, and the second youth was found at home and surrendered the shoes, the report stated.

Governor Sees 'Long-Range Solutions to Some of Toughest Problems Facing State'

Now it is time to assess what they accomplished during the past hectic six months. What have on certain issues, I think we can agree on this much:

The first session of the 77th General Assembly was one of historic achievement for Illinois. We made real progress toward developing long-range solutions to some of the toughest problems facing our state.

That judgment may surprise some people, but it does even me. Only a few weeks before the final gavel, the legislators seemed to be hopelessly bogged down in political bickering.

But in the difficult last days of session, something very important happened.

Through the news media and the mail, the message came to legislatives:

The people of Illinois expected better of them. They wanted some concrete steps toward a better future.

Even the cynics must be impressed by the solid improvements which came in response to that message.

Let's review a few of the more important ones.

At the top of the list is a comprehensive transportation program which comes to grips with some long-neglected needs.

What is important about it is that it deals with all modes of transportation in all sections of the state.

It is not a Peoria program, or a Chicago program. It is a total all-Illinois program, and its effects are going to be felt well into the next century.

With the funds from the new transportation bond issue we will begin building long-range ways to supplement the interstate system, improving airport transit systems, and aiding cities throughout the state.

Legislators also approved a "no-fault" automobile insurance system which will greatly speed up service on insurance claims resulting from those time-consuming "fender bender" accidents.

And we believe that the reduced investigative costs will eventually result in lower insurance premiums for Illinois drivers.

The General Assembly also enacted my recommendations to combat narcotics laws, and allowing us to crack down hard on syndicate drug pushers.

In the same vein, the legislators approved my request for funds to expand and upgrade our program of helping those people—especially youngsters—who are already addicted.

As a result of course, the General Assembly enacted nearly every one of our administration proposals to reform the state's penal system and continue cutting down the rate at which ex-convicts return to prison.

We took major strides toward improving the quality of health care in Illinois, and provided funds for a comprehensive attack on the problems of mental health in our state's history.

These, of course, are only the highlights of a session which passed about 2,000 bills in all.

There were some disappointments as well—such as the failure to pass government ethics legislation, a bill to protect our scenic rivers from destruction, and a proposal to limit the speed limit to 55 mph.

Fortunately, all these measures are still alive in legislative committee, and we hope that we can get the General Assembly to act on them when it returns this fall.

On balance, it was a session of real accomplishment, in which public officials met their responsibilities.

More than anything else, I think the legislative session demonstrated convincingly that our system DOES work.

It proved that representative government can deal with sticky responsibilities. We did it here.

It proved that, in a permanent state of crisis, staying one jump ahead of disaster and never really making any headway on the problems confronting the people.

There is some truth in the image, of course, because all levels of government and especially the state — are caught in a squeeze between skyrocketing costs of materials and services, and public weariness with heavy burden of taxes.

But we are not unique in Illinois; we are attacked on our problem vigorously — and doing it without new or increased state taxes.

It confirms something that Daniel Moynihan, a former advisor to President Nixon, said recently about America:

"It's a moment to be exceedingly impressed by the capacity of democracy to take people through the tribulations and terrible strains," he told a British interviewer.

—THINK OF WHAT OTHER SOCIETIES HAVE SUCCEEDED TO, GIVEN COMPARABLE STRAINS, IN A D. TEMPTATIONS. WE HAVE A VERY GOOD COUNTRY!"

Moynihan says it pretty well, and I have never been so convinced he's right as I have in the past few months here in our own state of Illinois.

Triple Header Program Set at Local Speedway

The Tri-City Speedway will hold another triple header program Friday night, featuring AMA motorcycle races, big car super sprint and late model stock car racing.

The program was a first in the Midwest last week. All events will be conducted on the half-mile clay track. The program will get underway at 7 p.m. on Friday.

In the big car super sprint divisions, top name drivers will

Sports Cars Will Race Against Clock Sunday And Aug. 8 at SIU-SW

Sports car enthusiasts will have a chance to test their abilities behind the wheel in the first sports car race at SIU-SW. Two Sundays, July 18 and Aug. 8, have been set aside for the event.

An auto-cross, co-sponsored by the Delta Sigma Pi professional fraternity at SIU-SW and the St. Louis Rallye Club, will be held on Sunday, July 18, at 10 a.m. and continue until dusk. The course will be set up and run on the parking lot behind the Science Building in Lot D.

The race is a race for sports cars against time on a designated course. The trophy will be awarded to the first place finisher.

The course will be outlined with flags and road cones, and maximum speed will be 30 miles per hour. The track is designed to take about one minute to complete and is a test of the driver's ability, not speed. The race will be timed at 1/10,000 of a second.

Gir's will also have a chance to compete in a "powder puff" race on the same track.

Eight classes of cars will run, with the open car on the track at a time. The entry fee will be $2 per driver and $1 for each additional lap.

Members of the St. Louis Rallye Club will be on hand to judge the race and to record the times of each competitor.

The race is open to the general public as well as SIU-SW students. Drivers with the best time in each class will receive a trophy. The trophy will be awarded at either a St. Louis Rallye Club meeting or at a Delta Sigma Pi meeting at SIU-SW at a future date. The proceeds will go to the Delta Sigma Pi treasury for general operating expenses.

Contestants must have proof of insurability and, if under 21, a waiver of responsibility signed by parent or guardian.

Nameoki Twp., Pontoon Reach Roadwork Pact

Future maintenance of roads within the village limits of Pontoon Beach will be handled by the Nameoki Township highway department under a four-year agreement approved Monday evening by the Nameoki Town Board.

A copy of the agreement, which covers a period from July 15, 1971 to April 30, 1975, has been delivered to the township for signature by the village board of trustees at a meeting this week, the township auditors were advised.

The agreement provides for roadwork in the village to be maintained by township highway department personnel at rates of $10 per hour for use of a road grader and scraper, $6 per hour for a truck operator, and use of a tractor and operator at $6 per hour. The quoted hourly rates include workman's compensation and liability insurance, fuel and maintenance and service of machinery.

All road materials will be supplied by the village which will also furnish any additional labor required, township officials said.

Long Overdue

Commenting about the agreement, Nameoki Supervisor Louis E. Whitsell said, "This should have been done many years ago. The action is long overdue."

He said owners of pets who have strayed should contact the County Rabies Control Office on Marine Road.

Whitsell reported that he anticipated for purchase of a tractor-hoe/loader at the Nameoki township offices, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. through July 23, he added.

Several communications were read from an official of the Illinois Department of Waterways and "a trustee of the East Louis and Sanitary District to Mrs. Helen Rawkins, a resident of Angela Drive.

Mrs. Rawkins has played a key role in efforts to speed completion of the project to gain access into the kitchen, she was told at 7:06 a.m. Wednesday.

The door to a gun cabinet was broken and an undetermined number of weapons was removed. A specific list of the stolen items was not available, police said.

Mrs. Rawkins said that at a meeting of the levee district trustees earlier Monday, Board Attorney Harry Hartman was prepared to present agreements to the levee board to turn over the drainage project. However, no action was taken by the levee board which failed to meet for lack of a quorum, she reported.

Col. Guy Jester
Begins District
Engineer Duties

Col. Guy E. Jester became the district engineer, U.S. Army Engineers District, St. Louis, on Monday. He succeeded Col. Carroll N. LeTellier, who is being reassigned to a post in Europe subsequent to his nomination as assistant to the rank of brigadier general.

The St. Louis District is the northernmost of four districts making up the Lower Mississippi Valley Division between St. Louis and the Gulf of Mexico.

The 26,000-square-mile district consists of 300 miles of the main channel of the Mississippi River from Cairo, Ill., to Memphis, Mo., and the tributary basins. The St. Louis District is currently charged with the design and supervision of $500,000,000 worth of continuing civil works.

Col. Jester is a graduate of West Point, receiving a master degree in structural dynamics and a doctor of philosophy degree in civil engineering from the University of Illinois. He is a graduate of the Army War College and a certified professional engineer in structural engineering.

He served in four campaigns in the Korean War as a combat engineer unit commander, and four tours in Vietnam as commander of the 1st Engineer Battalion of the Ninth Infantry Division. He is a member of the American Society of Engineers and the Society of American Military Engineers.

Col. Jester was born in Dyer, Tenn., on Oct. 20, 1929. He is married and has four children.

Governor Signs New Household Exemption Bill

A legislative bill giving $1,500 homestead exemptions to real estate owners over the age of 65 has been signed by Governor Richard B. Ogilvie Tuesday, creating a new problem of revision in Quad-City and Madison county property valuations for the current year.

The law replaces one held unconstitutional by the Supreme Court last year because it violated the uniformity clause of the 1870 constitution under which that law had been passed by the 1968 legislative session. The new bill was passed by the legislature this year under the new 1970 constitution which permits property tax exemptions.

Approval of the new law by the legislature has raised the Madison County Board of Review to re-instate in the real estate assessment books for the 1971 tax year the $1,500 tax exemptions for the elderly that were supposed to be removed because of the Supreme Court ruling.

Township assessors do not have the authority to make changes, but obtain the applications and fill out the required exemption forms and refer them to the review board: the household exemptions made in the new law that potentially was held unconstitutional were permitted to stand for tax purposes because the court ruling came too late to make changes in the assessments.

Personal Tax Problem

Meanwhile, township and county assessing officials are awaiting further word from state officials as to procedure in reinstating personal property taxes. The Illinois Supreme Court last week held unconstitutional an amendment proposed by state lawmakers last November that called for abolition of all personal property taxes on individuals.

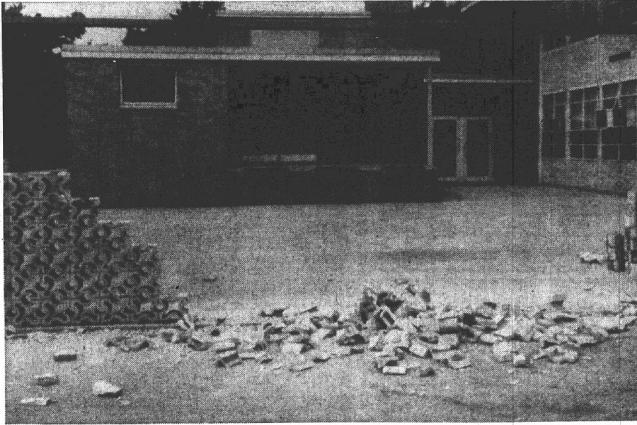

Because of approval of the referendum proposition, personal property taxes on individual property were eliminated by township assessors. Most townships already have certified their assessment books to the review board. The court ruling, however, requires that assessments be made as tax collections in 1972.

Dale Hill, Madison County assessor, said his office is awaiting word from Hill, but that he expects to make a new assessment of personal property since the state tax collection books have not yet been turned over to the review board. All townships also have made, or in the process of completing, a new quadrennial assessment of real estate property.

Winners of prizes awarded during the grand opening of the Madison store, 125 Weber St., Madison Ave., were: Mrs. Al Brawley, 125 Weber St., Venice, a barbecue grill; Mrs. Elwynne Pace, 2301 Edwards St., a radio; Mrs. Mildred and Mrs. Nellie Sharp, 2028 Fourth St., Madison, a bed lamp.

Mrs. Dorothy Kelly is the owner and manager of the new Madison store.

VLANDALISM OR ACCIDENT? A decorative wall on the south side of Harris elementary school, Seventh Street and Alton Avenue, Madison, was found knocked down by police early this week.

Ecologist Voices Optimism on Man, Environment

By JEFFREY ST. JOHN
Copley News Service

"Modern man will learn," contends biologist and naturalist Dr. Rene Dubos, "to manage intelligently and constructively the new ecological systems created by technology."

Dubos' view of the environment and man's place in it is in contrast to those who take a more doomsday view toward the pollution problem.

As a professor of environmental biomedicine at New York's Rockefeller University, Dubos contends further that "this is the only time in history when man can create entirely new ecological situations that are desirable and stable."

The French-born ecologist disputes the widely held view that man's intervention in the natural order is always negative.

Citing the Pennsylvania Dutch country as an example of wise ecological management, Dubos also points to parts of Europe as another example of wise ecological management that for centuries has made the earth richer.

"Repeating under a variety of conditions," he states, "man has converted wilderness into farmlands so ecologically sound that they have become richer with time . . .

"The transformation of the earth by works of man can create new opportunities that remain hidden in the state of wilderness."

Dubos disputes the current popularized view that urbanized wildernesses are the only true expression of nature and that conservation is to "protect nature against man."

He thinks that conservation should be "the recovery and development of potentials that permit a creative harmonious interplay between man and nature."

The breathtaking beauty in parts of the world, he points out, is not the "spontaneous expression of wilderness; it is instead the outcome of continuous and intimate collaboration between man and the site on which he lives . . .

"Oppose the commonly professed idea," he adds, "that wild and exotic environments are the only ones worth attention, the landscapes that provide the most lasting pleasure are still those in which man has made wilderness."

"Even completely artificial environments created by profoundly altering nature are more sought after than wilderness."

Dubos does not minimize the dangers to the environment created by the abuses of man.

However, the Pulitzer Prize-winning environmentalist contends that man has abundant ability to bounce back from man's abuses.

Venice Youth Fined In Madison Court

Otis Johnson, 20, of 120 Douglas St., Venice, was fined $145 and costs and sentenced to six weeks in custody of county authorities for the second offense in Madison magistrate court on charges of battery, resisting arrest and disorderly conduct.

Venice police said they arrested Johnson Tuesday afternoon after he allegedly had thrown a boy to the ground on two occasions in the vicinity of Market and Bissell Streets.

The boy suffered cuts on both hands and the boy's grandmother filed a battery complaint against Johnson. Other charges were filed when Johnson attempted to evade arrest, officers reported.

Jubilee Belles 'Fun Night' Party at Rink Tuesday

All women in the Granite City area who wish to participate in activities of the 75th Diamond Jubilee have been invited to a Jubilee Belles "fun night" party at the ice rink in Wilson Park Tuesday at 8 p.m. The party will be hosted by the Celebration Belles Committee of the Women's Participation division of the Jubilee.

Mrs. Alford, chairman, said, "For those 'belles' who have not yet joined the women's organization, there will be a sign-in and certificates available and may be purchased at the door."

All ladies preferably should be dressed in costume depicting the 1890 to early 1900 era, but the style of dress is not compulsory.

The party, designed strictly as an "evening of fun," will include a variety of entertainment arranged by Mrs. Margie Hall, who is also promenade chairman.

She has secured the services of the Mexican Honorary Commission of Granite City, whose president, Steve Ortiz, will provide dancers in colorful costumes performing their native dances.

Also on the program will be square dances from the Granite City area, with Louis Kibort as caller, and the Eagleair Kitchen Band. Mrs. Valerie Stevens will furnish several musical selections popular in the early 1900s and led the guests in a sing-along.

Refreshments will be served by the chairman of the Celebration Belles Committee.

Mrs. Hall also has announced the first Promenade will take place Friday, July 23, when all women, children and couples will be dressed in styles of the early 1900s. Police Warning on Bogus Bank Service

Area residents are receiving calls from a "bank customer service" which caller designates as part of a local bank's operations, police said Wednesday. Patrons of two banking institutions reported such telephone calls the week.

The so-called computer service caller attempts to verify checking account numbers and other information pertinent to the patron's finances, police said.

"The calls are not authorized by any bank and should be disregarded," a spokesman said. He cautioned that the inquiries probably are a ploy to obtain account numbers in a "bank drop game" in which depositors are given false information about their bank accounts then funds are extracted, or counterfeit withdrawal slips are made.

Parking Lot Accident

While leaving a parking space, an auto driven by Gary Storey, 113 Garesche St., Rural Route One, Troy, struck the parked car of Michael D. Fers, 2826 Nameoki Road, at 12:45 a.m. today at the Nameoki Village shopping center. Aurand was charged with driving without a license.

Woman Loses $295 in Confidence Game

Gloria Wright, 115 Garesche Homes, Madison, reported at 2:30 p.m. yesterday that she was the victim of a confidence game, resulting in the loss of $295.

She told police two black women stopped her in front of First Granite City National Bank, asked where they could deposit some money they displayed in their purses and were told to go to the Granite City Savings and Loan where she had an account.

Miss Wright said after she returned home, her money, which had been in a bank book, was missing. She reported to police that one of the two, a short, fat woman, 40, wearing an orange skirt, white blouse and a black wig, stood too close to her and snatched the money. The other was described as thin and wearing a white uniform and a long black wig.

A $369 guitar in a black case and a $400 amplifier were stolen in a burglary at the West Side Tabernacle, 2601 Cayuga St., on Sunday evening. It was reported at 5 p.m. Wednesday.

The area is a "great one" for the angler. Apart from the Erne lakes, there are Upper and Lower Lough Erne, which divide the county in two.

On this fine waterway there are countless picturesque and historic islands—the local residents claim there is one island for each day of the year.

Some have interesting ancient Christian ruins, and many are still covered with virgin woodland where wildlife abounds.

The old barracks, incorporating parts of the castle, has a picture of the current water date of the 17th Century.

One useful tip for tourists is to take a cruise to Devonside, on the lower lough, to visit a line of islands, probably best in the 9th or 10th Century, when raids by Norsemen were at their height.

Red Cross Converting from Four Areas to 85 Divisions

It has been announced by Washington Blvd.

The Tri-City Chapter and 100 other chapters in Missouri and Illinois are reviewed as a more cohesive grouping under this arrangement. Prior to this month each chapter was under jurisdiction of the American National Red Cross. Headquarters of the Bi-State Division of the Midwestern Area, which had total responsibility for providing guidance to 1,280 chapters. There were four areas in U. S. structure, which had been in effect since 1910, was outmoded. It was felt that approximately 85 Red Cross divisions should be established, based on geographic compactness, with the particularity in the major cities and representatives of chapters throughout the U. S., it was a chapter in each area.

The plan provides for the closer cohesion that this plan sharing of resources in order will provide within the chapters to better utilize not only in the division.

Martin Teeter, manager, Bi-State Division of the American National Red Cross, said: "There is an vision area and believes there are responsibilities or meetings throughout the new division. Purpose will be to consider and recommend ways sustained when Zeugin tripped through which activities of the Red Cross in the division can be made more uniform, stronger and more effective.

County Financial Status Strengthened in Past Year

The financial position of Madison County is in excellent condition, the County Board of Supervisors was told during a review of an annual audit which also listed 16 recommendations at a meeting Wednesday morning.

Guy McCune, an accountant for R. C. Scheffel & Co., certified accountant, reported in an 84-page audit report, in the financial condition for the past fiscal year ending last Nov. 30 improved from the previous year, with a balance increase of $2 million, bringing the over all balance to $12 million.

He urged additional investment of funds not in immediate need where possible and advised county commissioners to keep county operating funds may come tight especially if some of taxes are to be eliminated or reduced under the new Constitution.

McCune commented that nearly $7 million was invested during the fiscal year, an increase of $2 million, and more than a $350,000 interest was earned. He added the county bonded indebtedness was for bonded home bonds.

Invest More Funds

Stressing improvements in the investment program, the auditor noted that "it appears to us that there were still substantial excess funds on hand at various times during the year which could have been invested if the county officials had the legal right to do so."

Funds with significant uninvested cash balances Nov. 30 included those of the collector (three accounts), retirement fund, working cash fund, depreciation fund (and bond interest and sinking fund), special funds held in trust (two highway departments) (three and several feet office).

"We again recommend that all eligible excess funds be invested at the maximum yield available."

Bond Questions

McCune was questioned by several board members about a criticism that excessive deposits were made in two Edwardsville banks by Treasurer George Mussio. He responded that the treasurer confers with the state's attorney as to any legal implications.

Assistant State Atty. Marshall Smith, legal advisor to the board, remarked that deposits in the two banks were in excess of a 75% limitation of the capital stock and surplus of the banks. "This was the first year it happened and will not happen again," he said. He was asked to speak to Mussio about such deposits.

McCune also was asked to comment on an audit report that undistributed tax collection funds of $2,175,000 were deposited in non-interest bearing accounts for six months and could have drawn $40,000 to $50,000 in interest if such an investment was legal.

Tax Fund Opinion

Smith again replied that he is in the habit of giving an opinion, and an answer is expected to be delayed.

Supervisors also expressed an interest in a report on the county superintendent of schools that pre-signed blank checks were found in check books of

County Board Refuses to Seat Huckla

David Huckla, appointed as assistant county board supervisor of the Nemesis Board of Auditors, was denied his seat on the Madison County Board of Supervisors at its meeting Tuesday.

These credentials committee of the county board found that his credentials, necessary 10 gals a month, were out of order in that they were improperly endorsed.

Huckla was appointed to succeed Roger Deltour, whose resignation was accepted by the Nemesis Board of Auditors.

Huckla's resignation was read to the county board, and Roger Eble, Wood River Township supervisor, recommended that his resignation be accepted.

Marshall Smith, the board's legal advisor, said he would not be able to evaluate the point. An appointment to the supervisor's job was delayed.

Blood Questions

McCune was questioned by several board members about a criticism that excessive deposits were made in two Edwardsville banks by Treasurer George Mussio. He responded that the treasurer confers with the state's attorney as to any legal implications.

Chamber Urges Illinois Airport

NEW YORK — Fourteen record shops in Manhattan were raided recently on suspicion of selling pirated and counterfeit tapes of popular and classical music.

Casting Wednesday for Jubilee Pageant Roles

Plans were revealed today for casting of the spectacular pageant "Profiles in Progress," which is to be presented Aug. 23-28 at Wilson Park as part of the Granite City Diamond Jubilee.

A cast of over 450 people is needed to adequately fit the script.

Robert McCrary, director of the pageant, said the pageant will consist of a multi-level set including towers, platforms, rear-screen projector, special lighting effects, sound effects and narration, in a total theatrical experience.

"The set will extend over 250 feet, and the show itself will feature dances — including the Charleston, square dancing, Virginia reel and many more."

William F. Hoelscher, spectacle division chairman, said the size and scope of the pageant will be "the largest spectacle of its type ever held in Illinois."

The pageant will follow the history of Granite City from the time of its birth through the pioneer days, "roaring" 20s, war periods and up to the present.

Casting will be held Wednesday, July 26, at the Elks Club in Granite City at 7:30 p.m.

All parts will be cast locally — with many groups, including several from Madison and Vandalia — already asking to be included.

Any groups, organizations or individuals wishing to join in the pageant should be there next Wednesday, the 21st, at 7:30," Hoelscher said.

Pruning Hydrangeas

Proper pruning and winter care are the vital ingredients to annual flowers and good performance.

Two kinds of hydrangeas are common in Granite City gardens. The florist hydrangea (H. macrophylla) is blue or pink depending on acidity of the soil. The grandiflora hydrangea (H. macrophylla) is purple white.

The florist hydrangea develops next year's flowers on this summer's growth while the grandiflora hydrangea develops flowers on next year's growth. To keep the florist hydrangea flowers on the plant, cut the clump to 8-12 inch stubs in late July. Thin the clump to provide space for new growth. The new shoots will develop next year's flowers on the late season growth.

Cold winters usually freeze off these "fat" buds to destroy next year's flowers. You can reduce your chances by carefully pruning the entire plant, especially the tip buds. It may require a small fence filled with leaves or straw.

The grandiflora hydrangea can be pruned back to 3-6 inch stubs on the main stem. Make a crown and you are sure of survival and annual flowers. New shoots from the pruned-back stubs produce growth and flowers.

PRUNING CHRYSANTHEMUMS

Summer pruning and extra fertilizing can keep the plants in size and superb full beauty.

Fall blooming chrysanthemums can be grown as short stemmed beauties if you prune down to six inch stubs and thin the clump. One week before the 15th of July will not harm the flower color or size but will guarantee a compact clump.

Prune off the entire clump to six inch stubs. Then cut all the stems until four or six of the largest stems remain. Less competition for water, sunshine and fertilizer will result in strong growth and healthy blossoms.

Fertilizing with a lawn or garden fertilizer will give them an extra boost and extra quality. Scatter the fertilizer among the clumps immediately after water. In occasional deep watering during July and August and your extra fertilizer will produce the finest chrysanthemums you have ever grown.

Pincushion mums are a special dwarf variety. Use the extra fertilizer and water but DO NOT prune! Pincushion mums are clumpers and won't respond to pruning. But extra fertilizer and water will give these extra beauty to.

NOTE ABOUT CHIGGERS

Newer repellents with deet make picnics and fishing more fun by preventing a problem with chiggers.

Chiggers love a tough time when you spray or rub a repellent on cuffs, collars, socks and exposed skin. Deet effectively prevents chiggers from transferring from shirts and garments to your skin.

If you must treat the itch area immediately with an antiseptic to kill the chiggers in your skin, Itching will probably continue for some time after the treatment.

Governor's Veto Slashes SIU Budget for 1971-72

Because of critical factors involved, Southern Illinois University administrators said yesterday that the amount of the total appropriation announced for SIU cannot be announced pending review with members of the SIU Board of Trustees. An analysis of the alternatives to be considered may require several days, they said.

Governor Richard B. Ogilvie announced Tuesday that the total appropriation for SIU for 1971-72 is $73 million, down to a $70 million. The amount is $73 million in addition to a 1970-71 budget of $113,760.

The overall SIU budget was slashed by the governor in his veto of $57.5 million of the General Assembly's appropriation for higher education. At the same time, the governor announced he would veto $65 million of the welfare program to balance the budget without new taxes.

The governor's action eliminates funds leaves SIU with only $8.3 remaining of its original request of $73 million for the 1971-72 capital budget. Last fall the SIU Board of Trustees voted to request $73 million to build a dental school, medical school, housing facilities and other buildings.

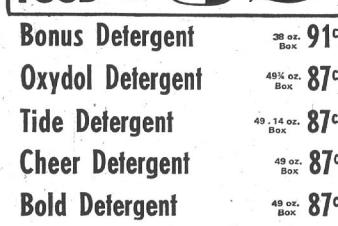

The SIU Board is to meet at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in the University Center at the Southwest Campus.

Action and Adventure at Boy Scout Camp Sunnen This Summer

PREPARE TO SET SAIL! Canoeing and sail boating are two of the most popular activities at Camp Sunnen. Preparing to set sail are John Kovach, Mike Busch, camp aquatic staff member, who is checking equipment, and Randy Affelter and Brad Crown. The craft is known as a "sailfish." An apparent record number of Boy Scouts from the Cahokia Mound Council is spending a week or more this summer at the spacious camp, located near Potosi in a hilly, wooded section of the Missouri Ozarks.

Here is a recent letter which pleased us greatly:

June 29, 1971

Dear Schermer Brothers:

The only suggestion I have for your new store is this: Can you get some new paper-back books?

I hope your store is exactly like it was. I always found everything I wanted. All our favorite brands.

Especially popular in our family is your Cream Bread! Good luck and hope you're back soon. We miss you.

Sincerely

All we can say when we get a letter like this is, "Schermer's customers are the greatest." Basically, the store is going back like it was. Just a very few changes which we are making to improve a few things which we thought could be improved. Schermer's will continue to be your "one stop shopping store" with all your favorite brands and all the many specialty items which we have stocked because of customer suggestions.

So, it won't be long now. Before you know it, the doors will swing open and the Schermer Brothers and their fine staff of employees will be smiling at you, once again.

8,000-Acre Area of Lakes, Woodlands Opened to Public for Recreation Use

An 8,000-acre natural area in Randolph and St. Clair Counties, with an abundance of wild-life habitat and prime fishing areas, has been opened for public use through the cooperative efforts of two state agencies and a utility company.

The area, which includes the 4,000-acre Kaskaskia Lake property of Illinois Power Co., was heralded by Henry N. Bartholomew, Director of the Illinois Department of Conservation, as "one of the best semi-wild sites in Illinois for development in future recreation."

The Illinois Power Co. will construct an access road, park lot, boat ramp and restroom facilities at Baldwin. Bartholomew praised the power company's move in effecting the agreement and providing the facilities. "Farsightedness of Illinois Power Co. in providing not only facilities for public recreation at its own expense, but also in arranging for proper management of fish and wildlife resources by the Department of Conservation, shows a conservation and environmental awareness that too often is lacking in many industries," Bartholomew said. "The power company is to be praised for setting this example."

The new recreation site is a mile north of Baldwin in Randolph County and is bordered on the west by 4,000 acres of land owned by the Illinois Division of Waterways which Bartholomew said, has agreed to manage the waterfowl and other wildlife purposes under a lease arrangement.

Teens With Fish

Division of Fisheries and Wildlife Resources will be primarily responsible for management of the new multi-use complex, said Bartholomew. The new complex, which includes largemouth bass, crappies, bluegill and sunfish, has been stocked for two years and is or under. Other regulations will include a 12-inch minimum length limit, 10 crappies, ties in the Conservation Department are just as enthusiastic about fishing will be permitted, over the Baldwin Lake and surrounding areas, details of which will cord to Jim Lockart, Supervisor of the Division of Wildlife Resources.

Authentics Enthusiastic

Authentics Enthusiastic is excellent habitat for deer, raccoon and squirrel," said Lockart. "It has good nesting cover for wood ducks—a type of habitat that is rapidly disappearing—and both the lake itself and the nearby timbered ox-bows are attracting thousands of migratory waterfowl each year."

The nearby Division of Waterways property contains a large number of pin oak, by Illinois Power Co., to provide a continuous supply of cooling water for coal-fired steam generating plants. The reservoir is a popular camping and fishing area, as well as being good wildlife habitat.

Ogilvie-Daley Cooperation Poses Dilemma for Simon

By KEN WATSON
Copley News Service

Springfield — Lt. Gov. Paul Simon is walking a political tightrope.

His problem is to attack Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie while supporting Illinois Mayor Richard J. Daley at the same time. Simon is generally considered at the Statehouse as the front-runner for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1972. To maintain this position, he has to criticize the Republican state administration at every conceivable opportunity. That's the way the political game is played.

But Simon faces a unique situation this pre-election year in that much of the Ogilvie record has been compiled with the assistance of Democratic legislators and their Mayor Daley, in particular.

Transit, Expressway Help

The Simon dilemma is illustrated by the transportation highway program. This massive road-building package was worked out in a Republican-Democratic legislative compromise which not only gave Democratic leaders political assistance for ailing Chicago Transit Authority but will also mean building of his long-sought Crosstown Expressway.

Simon, however, argues to pursue politics by attacking the program in the belief that some voters may interpret the bonding provisions as a form of an indirect tax increase. The tax revolt is still strong.

Simon in a speech delivered recently at Wheaton and widely distributed by his publicity staff, resolved that Ogilvie-Daley plan was a good idea for the legislature as a creation of "the state administration."

But in doing so, he wandered somewhat far afield politically. In criticizing the highway provisions, Simon solemnly declared that "the proposal to inaugurate such indebtedness passed the State Senate without even going to committee."

Trader Vic's Recipes
Can Be Made at Home

By THE BASCOMES
Copley News Service

The opening of the Oakland Bay Bridge in 1938 precipitated a flood of San Franciscans to the other side of the bay where a now-famous restaurateur made his debut.

His name: Trader Vic, whose real name is Victor Jules Bergeron. His game: the serving of Polynesian foods in exotic surroundings.

With a capital consisting of $500, two barrels of beer and some change for the cash register, he opened a small one-room saloon in 1934.

But the appearance of the family of plants is quite typical, each having distinguishing characteristics which make it easy to recognize and to avoid.

Poison ivy, for example, is either a vine, a shrub, or a tree, with wavy, sometimes growing up, sometimes drooping, twigs of a trunk of a tree, from which bright red berries hang.

Encouraged by some friends, he experimented with rum drinks. Unable to find a satisfactory garnish, for instance, he invented one of his own. Further research led to the first of many trips to the West Indies to learn about rum, fruit and breezes.

At about this time, he became interested in the preparation and serving of Polynesian food, gradually expanding his menu and also adding new rooms to the restaurant.

As the Oakland restaurant flourished, its fame spread, prompting the opening of a second Trader Vic's in Honolulu in 1940.

The Trader Vic operations, as we know it today, really dawned with World War II. When most saloon keepers were forced to close their doors and a case of brandy to acquire one case of gin or bourbon, Trader Vic found this abundance of rum no inconvenience and he enjoyed his choice of the finest in the world.

He often sold it by the bowlful with long straws and gaudy garnishes.

When beef was hard to come by, he bought stamp-free buffalo meat from Wyoming.

It was this reservoir of imagination that kept the SRO sign up at Trader Vic's.

A small indoor-outdoor restaurant, opened in 1951, was found time for a chat with the manager, one of Vic's sons, and chose several Polynesian recipes that can be prepared at home without benefit of a Chinese cooking oven.

Chef Louis Loh translated the recipes, each to serve four.

It is a large white onions and saute in 500 of butter or margarine to a golden brown. Strain the onions and discard the butter.

With onions in the pan, add 1 cup dry white wine and cover medium fire until reduced by one-half, stirring and mixing with the brown sauce stuck to the pan. Add 1 quart of beef stock, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup Worchestershire sauce, the onions and salt and pepper to taste.

Simmer for 1 hour, covered. Garnish with cheese croutons. Susu Curry Sauce

This is a heavy cream sauce made with the Susu type of curry, that is not as hot as the Madras or Indian curry powder. It is used with diced chicken, fish or lobster.

Chop together 2 large white onions, 4 stalks of celery and 8 oz. large fresh mushrooms.

Smash them with a masher until too much. Add 1 cup half-and-half, 4 tablespoons Susu curry and 1 pint of coconut milk. Bring to a boil and simmer.

Thicken with 2 tablespoons of cornstarch mixed with a bit of the sauce and add salt and pepper to taste.

Flame the Susu with a bit of the sauce and add salt and pepper to taste.

Use 1 oz. of Susu, can of condensed kumquats. Pour off the syrup, chop the kumquats finely and return to the syrup.

Mix about a soup ladle of this with a cup of rum and then pour off the alcohol, then pour over coconut ice cream.

Be sure the flame has burned out before pouring over the ice cream.

Vacationers Are Often
A Target of Poison Ivy

By IRWIN T. POLK, M.D.
Copley News Service

Nothing can be more irritating and annoying than a vacation marred by the unsightly discomfort of the rash of poison ivy.

Unfortunately, at least half, probably two-thirds of the poison ivy on the coast will develop a rash exposed to poison ivy. So the chances of having a vacation spoiled by the rash of poison ivy are quite high.

What is the rash called "poison ivy"? Doctors call it a contact dermatitis, an inflammation of the skin due to contact with an irritating substance.

In the case of poison ivy the substance has been identified by the U.S. Public Health Service as PDC (pentadecylatechol). This chemical occurs in the sap of the plant's leaf, and is readily absorbed when the leaf is crushed.

When the plant oil containing PDC comes in contact with the skin, it fixes firmly to the skin, causing a local reddening, swelling, blistering and oozing. Wherever the plant sap touches the skin, this process will occur, and as the material spreads over the skin, so does the rash.

Poison ivy is a plant known to botanists as Rhus toxicodendron. The members of the Rhus family include poison ivy, poison ivy and poison oak (Rhus diversiloba) which is more common in the West than the eastern part of this country.

Each of these has the toxic ingredient PDC, and each of these can therefore cause the rash of poison ivy.

The appearance of the family of plants is quite typical, each having distinguishing characteristics which make it easy to recognize and to avoid.

Poison ivy, for example, is either a vine, a shrub, or a tree, with wavy, sometimes drooping, twigs of a trunk of a tree, from which bright red berries hang.

The leaves have long stems and three features which are shiny on the upper surfaces. The leaves of poison oak somewhat resemble the oak leaf, but the plant is usually a low shrub.

Recognition is not difficult with a little experience, and avoidance is essential. For wherever the sap of these plants touches the average human skin, a rash will develop.

It is not necessary to come into direct contact with the plant to develop the rash. The plant oil may be carried into the body by another person who has rubbed against the plant. Then, by petting the dog, it is possible to develop poison ivy.

Likewise, when the plant is burned, the oil containing PDC is liberated, and may be carried quite a distance on the wind, to cause the rash in people many feet removed from the plant and fire.

Even in the depths of winter, the sap remains in the plant. So handling twigs, or leaves, or burning them has sent many an unsuspecting patient to the doctor in midwinter with poison ivy.

Avoiding the plant is the prevention for the irritating rash. But even after contact with the plant, much benefit will be gained by washing thoroughly to remove the rash of poison ivy.

Sometimes laundry detergents, mild ones, are effective at removing even the last trace of plant oil adhering to the skin. Certainly soap and water are indicated.

Nor is it enough to remove the plant oil from the skin. The clothes which have been worn during the exposure must also be cleaned thoroughly, as must the linens which have been used after the oil came in contact with the skin.

Since there is a lapse of a few days from exposure to development of the blistery rash, it is possible to have removed the plant oil thoroughly around the home and over much of the clothing, before the rash develops.

At any least amount of plant oil is absorbed repeated contact with the oil will repeatedly cause the same rash.

Once the rash develops, it is still important to cleanse the body thoroughly to remove all of the plant oil. Even though the rash is very extensive or severe, a physician must be consulted.

He will offer treatment with medicine to suppress the irritation, such things as antihistamines and cortisone-like drugs.

Most of the ointments available without prescription provide general soothing and healing, but do not contain the specific ingredients needed to eradicate the poison ivy.

The rash of the poison ivy plants is called a contact dermatitis. It is one of the commonest of such skin eruptions.

But it is not only summer skin eruptions from contact with irritating substances.

Many other plants may cause similar rashes in susceptible people. The rashes may look alike, although the cause is different.

Grasses, weeds and pollens may cause contact dermatitis, as well as sunburn lotions and a host of other materials applied to the skin.

The whole process is aggravated by the constant summer exposure to sunlight.

Interpretive-Recreation Program at Illinois Parks

By RAY SERATO
Copley News Service

Springfield — Officials in the Illinois Conservation Department have expressed satisfaction at the Department's interpretive-recreation program for children 7-14 years of age.

The program was started last year at a few of the state parks and this year it was expanded, last year the program proved to be very popular.

Parks involved are Illinois Beach, Chain O'Lakes, Rock Cut, Mississippi, Palisades, Starved Rock, Kankakee, Ramsey Lake, Argyle Lake, Kickapoo, Lincoln's New Salem, Lincoln and more.

Officials in the Department point out that the program is designed to get greater usage of the state parks. The program is likely to be expanded to other parks next year.

Movies, Crafts, Games

In addition to movies every Saturday night in the interpretive-recreation centers at the parks, there is an organized program which includes planning, fishing, candle-making, leathercraft, target air gun shooting, recreational games, pottery making, canoeing, stamp collecting, various nature hikes, use of the compass, basic first aid, survival techniques and more.

The program is offered every Wednesday through Sunday.

There are no charges for the program, and Conservation Department officials hope the program will reach between 70,000 and 80,000 persons.

There are reports that grown-ups are also interested in the program, which has been aimed at the youngsters.

With 25 million visitors expected this year for the Conservation Department is hopeful that the program will get more persons to return to the parks.

Department also has been trying to encourage gatherings at the various state parks which would reflect the early times of the state. Several were held last year and proved to be successful.

Some winter time use also is being planned for the parks.

LOSSES PRESENTED TO SHRINERS HOSPITAL

$500 Bond Presented To Shriners Hospital

A U. S. Savings bond for $500 was presented Monday night by the Rev. Lawrence Mattingly, pastor of St. Elizabeth Church, to the Shriners Crippled Children's Hospital in St. Louis in behalf of members of the parish.

The bond was accepted by Richard Ervy, marshal of the Shriners Almad Temple.

The money was part of the proceeds of the spring dinner featured by the Tri-City Knights of Columbus Council 1098 held on St. Elizabeth grounds.

Participating in the presentation were John Tritschuh, K. of C. grand knight, and Michael Schuler, who was general chairman of the festival which netted nearly $8,000.

The bond, with a presentation of $2,600, was made by the K. of C. to the Almad Temple for the Shriners Burns Hospital Transportation Fund and another $2,600 was to be provided to help establish a highway house for the retarded here.

Ervy said that Father Mattingly's name will be permanently inscribed in a golden book at St. Elizabeth's.

He said it was the first time, at least in this region, that a Catholic parish or a K. of C. council had contributed that amount to the Shriners Children's Hospital.

Layette Items, Donations Sought For CYS Newborn Clothing Project

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

A young mother-to-be, whose husband earns $33 a week while enrolled in a Neighborhood Youth Corps job training program, is trying to outdo the prospective mothers who are accumulating for their new babies.

The 18-year-old girl knows she can't afford any of the precious looking little garments for her soon-to-arrive infant. So she gathers up the stragglers, admires the tiny, pale bonnets, dainty lace kimonos and warm fleecy blankets and wishes desperately she had the money to buy just a few things for her baby.

As with many teenage girls, she doesn't sew very well and knitting seems to be a lost art with young women of today. Besides, she reasons, the cost of fabric and thread is expensive and beyond the means of her slender pocket book.

Not until after the infant arrives can our real-life, mother-to-be qualify to receive any financial aid to clothe the child. It is a turned mills to discussing the problem with Mrs. Gladys Bass, a caseworker at Coordinated Youth Services.

Because of the father's low income, she will be entitled to limited financial assistance for clothing and food only after he or she is born, the CYS staff work-clothing project while attending an out-of-town meeting. Mrs. Ehlert struck a responsive cord in a Carbondale woman, Mrs. Bass, who has agreed to supply additional donations.

Inquiries: CYS Center.

After a "Nearly New" clothing shop was established at the CYS office, Mrs. Bass said staff members and volunteers were asked many times if baby items could be obtained through the youth agency project.

"Initially, I would call members of the Quad-City Council of Church Women United, or perhaps, friends seeking donations of infant clothing," she explained.

"So many of the young girls, married and unmarried, needed clothing just as bad as we did. I put them on their feet until after the baby arrives," she added.

The caseworker said that on several occasions Mrs. Ellen Ehlert of St. John United Church of Christ afternoons

Guides responded to her plea with gifts of tiny garments which the local residents made for herself.

Mrs. Ehlert contacted other leaders for similar contributions and persuaded several members of the women's guild to sew baby clothes. Eventually the guild decided to adopt the sewing project as one of their pet programs." Mrs. Bass complained.

Guild Takes Up Project

To start the project out in "the right way," the St. John Guild members gave a baby shower, with women using to sew, knit, or darn projects and cash donations to purchase socks, diapers, nursing bottles and comparable infant needs.

Mrs. Bass reported.

Immediately after the cradle shower and for the past few months, several ladies have continued to make the tiny garments and furnish crib sheets and related materials, the CYS official stated.

She said anyone can donate infant clothing to the program.

"Contributions are equally as appreciated," Mrs. Bass commented, noting that nursing bottles, socks, diapers and similar apparel and supplies in most instances, must be purchased.

"This is where we can really use your cash donation to good use," she added.

Recently, a group of women from the First United Presbyterian Church joined the program by contributing layette items, she added.

Discussing the new baby

she added.

Howlett Urges Respect for Nixon Foreign Policy Moves

President Nixon (R) deserves the support of Americans, regardless of their foreign policy moves, Michael J. Howlett (D), state auditor of public accounts, said during the meeting of the Illinois chapter of the Disabled American Veterans, held in Joliet.

"We can't elect a man to command our armed forces and it is," said Howlett. "How does one move out fighting men around should not be an issue for partisan political debate."

"Mr. Nixon is a President of the Republicans or the Democrats. He is President of all the people, and he is entitled to their support in any dealings with foreign countries."

"Any one has a right to disagree with the President's policy in Vietnam or anywhere else around the world. But, measurement should not be made in the minds of our fighting men that America is 10% behind them."

"Fine points of diplomacy are important, but they are secondary to our soldiers under fire."

Howlett said publication of "secret" Pentagon documents has caused a distortion in public understanding of the role of U.S. Presidents in the Vietnam problem.

"No President, wants war," said Howlett. Presidents try to get out of wars, but when we wind up in wars, Presidents want to get them over with."

"Commentators and editorialists are now charging that President Johnson was responsible for the war in 1965 and deceived the people. This has been denied by George W. Ball, who advocated withdrawal from Vietnam in 1965 while Ball was Overland, Mo."

Famous Teen--Bingham Learned Art at River

George Caleb Bingham, 1819-1879, was an American painter, colorful riverboat days and frontier life. A series of a series on what famous people were like in their teens.

By BETT ANDERSON
Copley News Service

Even before he reached his teens, George Bingham could draw pretty well.

Unfortunately, in the tough little waterfront town of Franklin, Mo., there was little to encourage budding artists. Rowdiness, murders, illiteracy, made Franklin a rough place.

The two-story jail always had room for ruffians, transients. There were art galleries no art schools, and one around who could appreciate George's talent.

The paintings are a great contribution to American painting in the 19th Century.

Six Area Students Honored at Milliken

Six area students were named to the Dean's List at Milliken University. Decatur for academic achievements during the spring semester. They are:

Judy Barr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine E. Barr, 1015 N. Main, Decatur; Maria M. Hayes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Haynes, 2014 Idaho Ave.; James P. Hentzel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Hentzel, 2245 Pebble Rd.;

George kept the three R's from his mother. But there was a fourth, R which he preferred to learn from the river that ran by Franklin.

He had a thing about keel-boats, scows, steamboats and river-flats.

Youth Hostels Opens Office in St. Louis

The Ozark Area Council of American Youth Hostels, Inc. has leased a suite of rooms on the first floor of 2665 Big Bend Blvd. in Maplewood and will hold its open house July 25, from 1 to 5 p.m. AYHers and others interested in hosteling are invited to attend and inspect the new quarters. Refreshments will be served and color slides will be shown of local AYH trips and activities.

American Youth Hostels is part of an international federation of 15,000 hostels in the U. S., Canada and 49 other countries. It is a not-for-profit organization devoted to low-cost educational travel and outdoor activities for the "young-at-heart" of all ages--individuals and entire families.

The AYH council here in the St. Louis area offers an extensive, year-round program of scuba diving trips, local domestic and overseas for active, adventurous people who like to travel "under their own steam."

These range from short, easy bike rides for families to 100-mile road trips, runs, trips from one-day canoe trips on nearby rivers to two- and three-day canoeing campsouts on more distant streams.

The local AYH chapter has its own camp active and several three-speed bicycles that may be rented by trip participants. A variety of domestic and foreign-made bikes will be on display at the open house, a good opportunity for would-be bikers to pick up some cycling expertise.

A bi-monthly newsletter and activity schedule detailing forthcoming trips, local and foreign, and other activities may be obtained, free of charge, by calling 644-3569 or mailing a request to American Youth Hostels, Inc., 2605 S. Big Bend Blvd., St. Louis, Mo., 63143.

Regional Report--County-St. Louis Dispute Over Leadership Ignores Illinois Section

(Illinois Metro-East Industrial Development Corporation)

The third season of the Mississippi River Festival began with a concert by Van Cliburn and the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra.

The Festival, held again this year under the big tent on the Southwestern campus of Southern Illinois University, featured 12 folk-pop-rock events, six Saturday evening St. Louis Symphony concerts, and six Sunday evening "pop" concerts. Henry Mancini, Jerry Goldsmith, Morton Gould and Arthur Fiedler will appear in the Sunday evening concerts.

With the Mississippi River Festival was working to pull the entire bi-state St. Louis metropolitan area into one unit, other forces were at work to reinforce existing barriers between various parts of the St. Louis area. St. Louis County, the Illinois Lawmakers, Lawmakers Roos commented that the time has come for St. Louis County to assume the key leadership role of the entire metropolitan area.

The statement resulted in comments by St. Louis Mayor Cervantes that St. Louis County could not survive without a healthy St. Louis, and by Illinois Governor George W. Romney that the task of leadership is to unify, not divide. The place of the Illinois area in the St. Louis region was ignored by nearly all of the participants in the argument.

Construction began on the first building in the Bell Valley Industrial Village. This first structure will be a 31,000-square-foot building.

These additional buildings, one of them for a light industrial company of 250,000 square feet, will begin within 30 days, Harley Rennhoff announced.

Another building project, this time a $1 million shopping center started in Rockwood, will be completed on Cawood Road, will include fourteen to seventeen stores. All the stores will be located in one 180,000-square-foot building.

Can you find the Volkswagen hidden in this picture?

If you can, you'll make us very sad.

Because we've troubled ourselves no end to hide it from you.

Our quest for the invisible Volkswagen took us all the way to Turin, Italy.

Where we asked the famous Ghia Studios to design us a sporty Italian body.

They did.

Their drawings clutched tightly in hand, we secretly prodded about Europe for the best coach builder we could find.

Success. To the Karmann Coachworks of Osnabrück we handed over Ghia's sketches with the injunction:

"Make it beautiful." (Or else.) They did.

And welded. And burnished. And sculpted. And sanded. And pointed.

Until they had shaped in steel what Ghia had shaped in pencil.

Snug in the knowledge that nobody could ever make this beautiful car for a Volkswagen, we made it a Volkswagen.

By concealing our air-cooled engine in back. If better traction.

And making it go about 26 miles on just one gallon.

Then we gave this Volkswagen its final guise:

We named it the Karmann Ghia.

known as the Nova Plaza Center. Also, a new 103,000-square-foot store is open. A British firm, Edwin Cooper, Inc., has purchased an oil additive unit in Saugat from the Monsanto Co. The facility is on a 23-acre site, north of the major portion of the Monsanto plant. The number of people employed is not expected to change with the sale of the property.

A strike by Painters, Paper-hangers and Decorators Local 1890 has closed the Pilsner Co. plant in East St. Louis.

The facility produces materials for the paint and varnish industries. The creation of a unit shop in the plant is due to the strike issue.

Other issues include a better pension plan, sick leave, additional holiday and use of seniority in promotions. Wages are not to be affected.

The East-West Gateway Council, which is charged with the federal government with the approval of federal funds for a variety of projects in the St. Louis region, including health, is withholding its complete approval of the SIU-SW School of Dental Medicine until the federal government grants application filed by SU can be reviewed by the regional health planning agency, the Alliance for Regional Community Health. In the past, the Alliance has been slow in reviewing health programs.

In general area news, East St. Louis banks have agreed to lend the city of East St. Louis $100,000 to help meet the July payroll; the St. Clair County Board of Assessors has objected to a plan to erect a state office building in East St. Louis.

Illinois Power Co. has opened a new Baldwin Lake for fishing; a new plant will be built by the company for the Belleville area by a new organization, Trailblazers, Inc., of St. Clair County.

A bill authorizing purchase of additional land for Calipka Mounds State Park has been introduced in the Senate and is awaiting Governor Ogilvie's signature.

The East-West Gateway Coordinating Council has established an interim St. Louis Area Rapid Transit Authority.

The City of Collinsville has sold $1 million in revenue bonds and $1 million in general obligation bonds to aid in the financing of the city's selected East Side Levee and Sanitary District board of trustees has been enjoined temporarily from taking control of the district by a St. Clair County Circuit Court judge.

And Parks College of Aerohautical Technology in Collinsville has become self-supporting in terms of direct income and expenditures.
